DEMOCRATIC WOMEN URGED TO VOTE TICKET

The following is an open letter to the Democratic women of Tennessee:

"Dear woman voter—Of course you are interested in the election of the Democratic nominees, both State and National. But do you know that the responsibility of their election or defeat lies wholly in your hands?"

"Do you know that your voting precinct is the unit of government for the whole United States, and that the success of the candidate depends upon their strength right in your own ward, precinct or district?"

"Campaigns are always lost or won in the precincts. If you fail in your duty to vote for the Democratic nominees you may be sure that the votes of the male members of your household will be wiped out by the votes of Republican women. They have been organized since early spring and not one of them is indifferent to the privilege of the ballot. Whether the Democratic victory be lost or won on November 2 it is your individual responsibility and I urge you by all that you hold dear not to fail in your duty."

"The Democratic party has a right to claim the woman vote because it has a long and proud record of things accomplished for her protection and advancement. It has placed in nomination for your approval by ballot in the coming election men who are leaders in the great forward movement of the world which places the cause of justice and humanity above petty politics. You should not fail to vote for the two great Democratic National leaders, Cox and Roosevelt."

"The Democratic party of Tennessee has nominated for its chief executive for a second term a man who stands for a square deal on all measures for the advancement of human rights. A man, progressive, fearless and humane; a man who has kept to the letter his party pledges."

"The eyes of the grateful women in every State of the Union are turned toward the women of Tennessee to see in what manner they will repay the man who believes that women are good enough and wise enough to have a voice in the affairs of their State and their Nation, and who has stood by his convictions in spite of overwhelming odds. Do not prove a political renegade, then, in this your first opportunity to vote for Governor Albert H. Roberts—the greatest Democrat whom Tennessee has placed on guard in at least a quarter of a century."

"Do not let your fear of your responsibility for the League of Nations keep you away from the polls and do not let anyone persuade you to become a quitter on account of article X. If you are familiar with the tenets of the League you know what it stands for. If you are not familiar with it, take my word for it that it is simply the gospel of world peace in a nutshell and that the much maligned article X is only the Monroe Doctrine on a larger scale. Thirty-seven nations of the earth have already found the Covenant of the League to be a safeguard and a safe guide in times of peace and threatened warfare."

"If you seek for further reasons for voting the Democratic ticket from start to finish, let me remind you that 81,000 American soldiers died on foreign soil during the world war for the sake of democracy. In thus dying they flung their torches to the women of America to catch up and 'carry on' by their ballots until the world shall be forever free from warfare. Do not break faith with your Nation's dead, oh, women, by failing to support with your ballot the sacred cause for which they died!"

"Don't let anyone frighten you away from the polls. There is nothing complicated or difficult about casting your ballot. The voting places are as safe and as quiet as your corner grocery or your village store, and there is nothing in the world that should keep you from performing your plain moral duty on election day."

"I charge you, oh, women of Tennessee, to stand by the Democratic party! Vote for Cox and Roosevelt on November 2. Vote for Governor Roberts and George N. Welch and for every other Democratic nominee, for in your hands and in your vote alone lies the great Democratic victory."

"Faithfully yours in the cause of Democracy,

Mrs. CHARLES W. BAKER,
State Democratic Press Chairman."

HOW WOMEN WILL USE VOTE

Nashville, Tenn., October 23.—(Tennessee Women's Democratic headquarters) In some mistaken way the idea has gone abroad that woman is to usurp man's rights because she has been given the ballot. Far, far from that!

She will esteem her vote "above rubies and much fine gold."

She will use it for the betterment of schools and the conditions under which men, women and children work.

She will use it to secure traveling libraries for rural communities.

She will use it for laws, for the care of mothers and babies, to stop the fearful waste of life.

She will use it for laws for mother's pensions.

She will use it for laws regulating working hours for women.

She will use it for laws regulating woman's wages.

She will use it for laws pertaining to health.

She will use it for laws requiring clean cities and towns.

She will use it wisely and well without fear and favor.

Men, do not discourage your women, but urge upon them the vast importance of voting thoughtfully and unflinchingly.

To vote conscientiously is a supreme duty that must be done.

Women, remember that we owe Governor Roberts our first vote because he enfranchised us and made us equal in power to other women of the world.

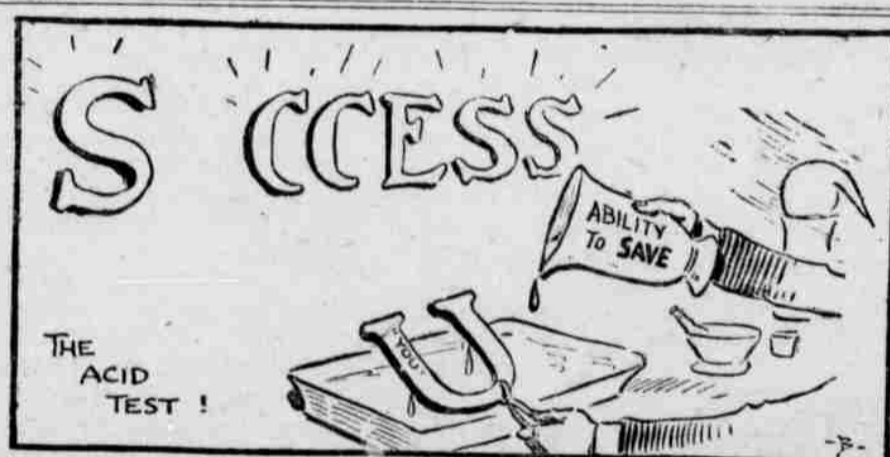

"It is liberty alone that fits us for liberty."

KATHERINE P. WRIGHT,
Chairman of Publicity

Had all the Republicans been as unmindful of the sovereign rights of the people as were Lodge and Taylor at that time, the bill would have become a law. Taylor's affirmative vote was cast in favor of enslaving the people of the South to carpetbag rule and negro dictation.—Memphis Press.

From every section of the country and from the rank and file of the people there come every day to National Democratic headquarters indications that the tide has turned and now sets steadily and strongly toward Democratic success in November. The signs are such as can not be ignored.

The coal situation is beginning to look brighter.
